

References

1. Wang Xiuling. Silk Fabrics Unearthed from Ding Imperial Tomb. Jiangnan Archeology 2001; (02): 80-88.
2. Wang Kaijia, Li Meng. Analysis of Ming Dynasty Textile Clothing Information in Tianshui Bingshan Records. Silk 2017; 54 (11): 83-88.
3. Xia Zhengxing. Chinese Brocade. Journal of Textile Research 1982; (07): 63-64.
4. Wu Jiayu, Chen Bin. Historical Inheritance and Contemporary Application Value of Chinese Silk Tapestry. Journal of Clothing 2016; 1 (05): 519-523.
5. Niu Li, Cui Rongrong. Development and Inheritance of Nanjing Brocade Culture. Journal of Clothing 2018; 3 (05): 445-447 + 451.
6. Wang Gehui. Clothing Materials. Beijing: China Textile Publishing House, 2010, pp. 80-82.
7. Feng Linying. Representative of Highest Achievement of Chinese Ancient Brocade Technique - Zhuanghua. Journal of Zhejiang Silk Institute of Technology 1993; (03): 76-80.
8. Wang Qiao, Li Zheng. Nanjing Brocade Pattern and Its Application in New Chinese Fashion Design. Silk 2019; 56 (05): 60-65.
9. Song Yingxing, annotation by Guan Qiaoling and Tan Shuchun. Exploitation of the Works of Nature. Changsha, Yuelu Publishing House, 2002.
10. Huang Nengfu, Nanjing Yunjin of China and Aristocratic Family of Cao, the author of A Dream of Red Mansions. Academic periodical of A Dream of Red Mansions 2009; (03): 35-57.